Unlock Your Technical Documentation with Fluid Topics & Paligo CCMS

Deliver technical and product documentation to critical customer channels

FluidTopics is a content delivery platform that enables companies to deliver technical and product documentation to customer channels, including documentation portals, unified knowledge hubs, and in-product help. By integrating Paligo CCMS, companies can easily author and publish documentation to any delivery channel in Fluid Topics.
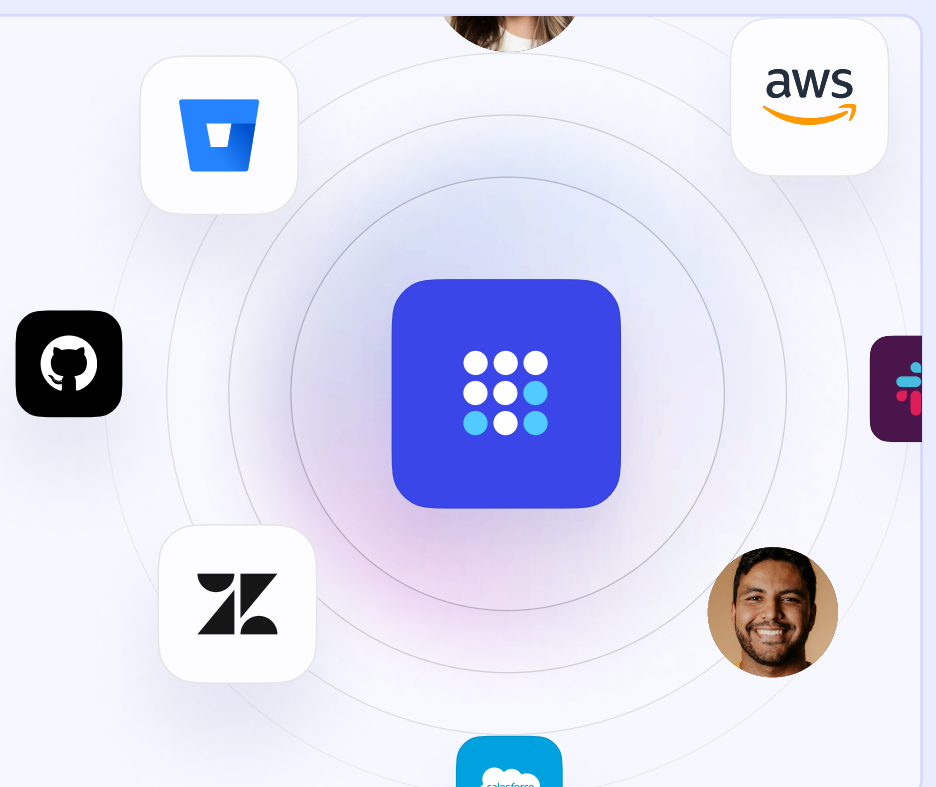

Benefits for the Business

Paligo is a cloud-based component content management system that enables you to single source your content for maximum reuse, reducing authoring time and ensuring consistent, accurate content across all Fluid Topics delivery channels.

Benefits for Content Creators

Streamline content creation with Paligo's structured authoring environment. Focus on writing concise documentation that you can reuse across topics and publications - no wrestling with formatting. Leverage version control and collaborative workflow to ensure content is accurate and compliant across all channels.
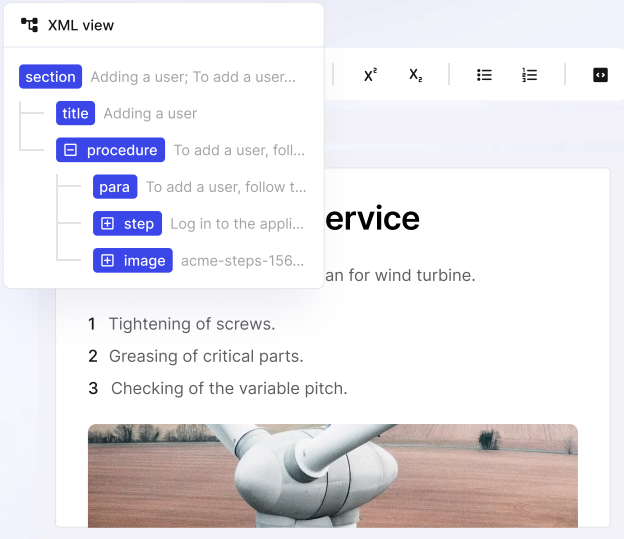

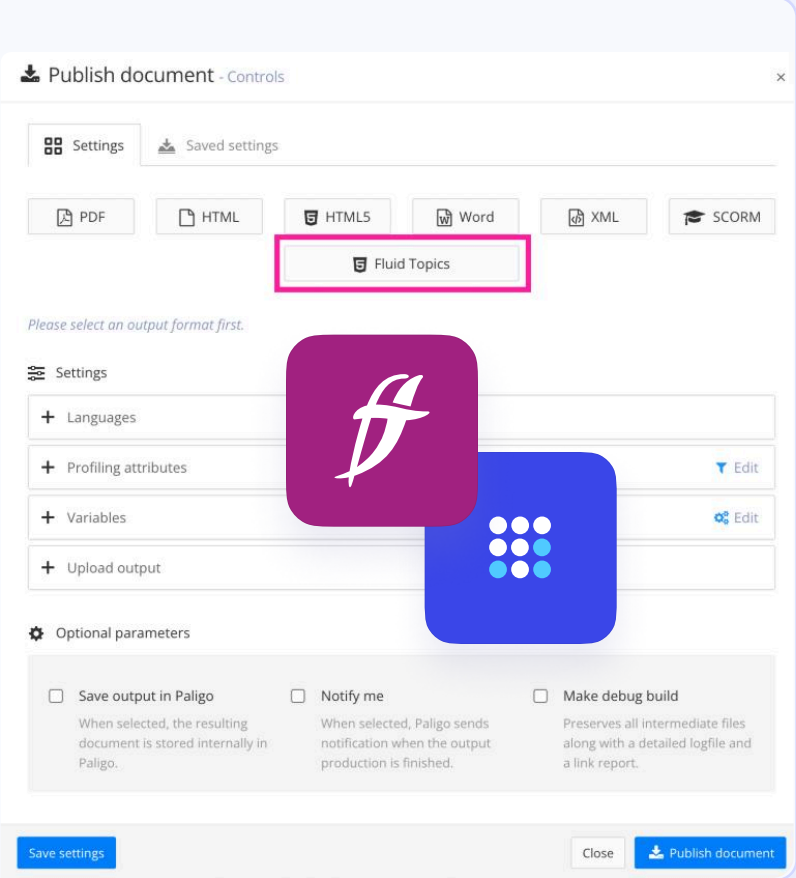

How the Integration Works

Paligo CCMS has a direct integration with Fluid Topics.

Publishing Options

- Set Fluid Topics as the output format when publishing content.
- Publish complete publications or single topics.
- Content is published as HTML5
- Publish to predefined layouts in Fluid Topics

Advanced Features

- Apply filters and profiling to deliver documentation targeted to specific audiences, markets, or products.
- Use variables for dynamic content or personalized experiences, such as versions.
- Leverage translation and localization and publish documentation to multiple languages.

Discover how you can streamline content delivery with Fluid Topics and Paligo CCMS.

Contact Paligo