Integrate Paligo CCMS with LanguageWire for Faster, Smarter Technical Translations

It's time to stop juggling complex translation processes. Integrate Paligo CCMS with LanguageWire, a cloud-based API-driven translation platform, and blend advanced AI with a network of human experts, streamlining how you create, manage, and deliver multilingual technical documentation.

Benefits for the Business

Centralize your multilingual translation and localization within a single, efficient workflow, significantly cutting translation costs and turnaround times. By automating your technical content translation process using LanguageWire's intuitive interface, you gain access to AI-powered translations and a network of 7,000 technical language experts in a secure environment.

Benefits for Tech Writer

Eliminate copy-paste errors by directly integrating with LanguageWire and managing the complete translation lifecycle. Reuse existing translations when reusing source content and ensure accuracy and consistency across all languages. Maintain brand consistency by ensuring your brand voice, terminology, and messaging remain accurate across all languages and markets and ensure compliance with robust version control and audit trails.

How LanguageWire Integrates with Paligo
